Unlock your potential.
Institute 14
Books We Wouldn't Want to Teach Without: Scaffolding Students' Thinking Through Terrific Texts

9:00 AM–5:00 PM
McCormick South Building, S403a

PRESENTATION CATEGORY: Promoting Reading Engagement

Welcome and Introductions: Mary Beth Allen, Karen Bromley, Kit Mohr

Keynote – Karen Bromley – Favorite Titles for Creating Word Detectives and Stretching Vocabulary

Keynote – Terrell Young – Nonfiction Books Too Good to Miss

Break

Breakout Sessions (Participants will select one)

Breakout 1 – Nancy Frey - Graphic Novels: Reading and Composing with Sequential Art

Breakout 2 – Kit Mohr – Fiction and Nonfiction Favorites for English Language Learners

Breakout 3 – Terrell Young – Readers Theatre Across the Curriculum

Keynote – Mary Beth Allen – Finding Favorite Books: Letting the Books Speak to You

Lunch (on your own)

Keynote – Linda Gambrell – Why Some Books are Better Read Aloud

Keynote- Kit Mohr – Children's Choices: What We Know About What Kids Want

Breakout Sessions (Participants will select one)

Breakout 1 – Mary Beth Allen – Teaching Reading and Writing with Nonfiction Favorites

Breakout 2 – Stephanie Romano – Connecting Students’ Lives with the Past Through Young Adult Novels

Breakout 3 – Karen Bromley - ABC Books as Vehicles for Word and Concept Growth

Keynote – Blue Balliett - The Danger Box, an all-new mystery from the NYT best-selling author of Chasing Vermeer and The Calder Game (All participants will receive one of Blue’s books, compliments of Scholastic, Inc.)

Participants will share their favorite titles

Closing Discussion and Future Directions

PRESENTER(S):

Mary Beth Allen, East Stroudsburg University of Pennsylvania, East Stroudsburg, PA
Karen Bromley, Binghamton University, Binghamton, NY
Nancy Frey, San Diego State University, San Diego, CA
Kathleen A.J. Mohr, University of North Texas, Denton, TX
Stephanie Romano, East Stroudsburg University of Pennsylvania, East Stroudsburg, PA
Terrell Young, Washington State University, Richland, WA