Sewell, Weber to Co-chair ESU Foundation Faculty And

Staff Campaign. Two well-known and respected members of ESU's faculty and staff will kick off the East Stroudsburg University Foundation's 2013 Faculty and Staff Campaign next week. Cornelia Sewell, coordinator of multicultural affairs, and Jeffrey A. Weber, Ph.D., chairman of the political science department, will lead the charge in the fundraising campaign that begins February 12, 2013, and runs through late March. You will soon receive your Faculty and Staff Campaign packet through the university mail. Valuable information is included about the ESU Foundation Annual Fund, the cornerstone of the Foundation's fundraising efforts. Through private contributions, the ESU Foundation Annual Fund helps replace lost state funding to the university's operating budget. It provides immediate support where ESU and its students need it most.

- Annual scholarships
- Improvements to academic and athletic programs
- Faculty research grants
- Enhanced technology
- Enrichment of departments
