GEORGE P. BIBLE
HUMOROUS LECTURER
AND ENTERTAINER
INTRODUCTORY

OMETTEES want to know something relative to the man or attraction they are about to engage. Is he popular Does he please Has he merit as well as humor Is he a drawing card Press notices and testimonials give a general idea, but life is too short to read them. One fact is apparent: managers cannot afford to recommend people who fail to please or to "make good."

Audiences want to be entertained as well as instructed. The management realizes by experience in booking the past few seasons that we have in Dr. Bible one who does both so successfully that we are filling return dates for him on almost every course he has been on during the past few seasons.

He did not come to the platform by chance, but through natural ability, and a thorough training for public work in the National School of Elocution and Oratory, of which he is now managing principal. His work as President of the State Normal School of Pennsylvania, has given him an insight into life, most helpful to young people.

As an orator and natural humorist he ranks among the foremost. His wit and humor are natural and spontaneous, always emphasizing some solid part of his philosophy.

In the line of Shakespearean reader and impersonator he has achieved great distinction. His thorough command of voice, gesture and facial expression are elements of strength in his lectures. Mr. Bible's versatility and keen insight into human nature enable him to adapt himself to the ever-changing conditions of his audiences. He has been in the Chautauquas and Institutes of the West and South, and the calls for return dates are the best evidence the Bureaus want of his popularity.
Wilkes-Barre (Pa.) Record.
George P. Bible has lectured before the Luzerne County Teachers' Institute upon several occasions, and has always enlisted and held the attention of that body. His manner is pleasing, his style attractive, and his teaching clear. Our teachers are always pleased to greet him.

York (Pa.) Democrat.
Bible is all right as a lecturer. He delivered his lecture on "The Elements of Success" on the regular Institute course, and we hear nothing but the highest commendation. He filled the night that was to have been filled by Dr. Cadman, and this fact, although previously known, did not diminish the attendance. He was greeted with a large audience.

Scranton (Pa.) Republican.
Mr. Bible is always a favorite. He is a ready speaker, well versed in literature, and can illustrate his subjects so ably in his aapt rendition of selections from his favorite authors. He is one of the most pleasing reciters our people have heard for some time. He never makes you weary. Good sense, good judgment, characterize his public or platform work.

Danville (Pa.) Morning News.
Tuesday evening's lecture was delivered by Prof. G. P. Bible on "Elements of Success." The discourse was chock full of good advice, and abounded in witty sallies which elicited frequent outbursts of laughter, and kept the audience in the best kind of humor.

Hagerstown (Md. Daily).
Prof. Bible gave an entertainment before our Institute, and he carried everything by storm. Prof. Bible is just the sort of fellow you need if you want a representation of life in all phases. This was his third season on our course.

Chambersburg (Pa.) Register.
The evening's lecture was delivered by Dr. George P. Bible, Principal of the National School of Oratory, Philadelphia, his subject being "The Elements of Success." Dr. Bible is a rapid talker, very entertaining, and held the close attention of the audience.

Madison (Ind.) Courier.
Dr. G. P. Bible, of Philadelphia, was the drawing card for Sunday. He should have been heralded as a star, for he really belongs among the constellations. Dr. Bible is an ideal platform speaker. He possesses that rare and priceless qualification for platform success—adaptability—and he talked himself directly into the affections of a grateful audience.

Mifflinburg (Pa.) Telegraph.
The best and most entertaining lecture of the course.

J. D. FORD,
Manager Chautauqua, Grimsby Park, Ontario, Canada.
Dr. Bible is a great success. He delighted our people.

HON. WALLACE BRUCE,
DeFuniak Springs, Fla.
A most pleasing reader and lecturer. A great success at our Chautauqua.

E. R. WILSON,
General Secretary, London, Ontario.
Mr. Geo. P. Bible gave a most interesting lecture in our Auditorium. Many requests have come to re-engage Mr. Bible for another lecture. His lecture is filled with good things, and not only does he entertain his audience, but gives them things to think about.

Cleveland (O.) Leader.
The last number on the Ewworth Course at Glennville, Cleveland, was the lecture delivered by Dr. Bible, of Philadelphia, on "Life and Opportunity," and was a fitting close to a most successful course, with the unanimous opinion that this was the best. Mr. Bible is one of the platform stars.

Louisville (Ky.) Courier-Journal
No one will doubt the advantage of special training in voice and action for the platform after listening to a master such as Mr. Bible. He has a message and knows how to deliver it. The large audience was delighted.

Milford (Pa.) Press.
Dr. Bible was warmly greeted by the audience, which always thoroughly enjoys him.

Reading (Pa.) Eagle.
The lecture given on the Y. M. C. A. course by Dr. George P. Bible was one of the best, if not the best, of the season. Common sense, wit, humor, nicely blended.

Philadelphia (Pa.) Ledger.
Mr. Bible is a lecturer and entertainer of great promise.

Baltimore (Md.) Sun.
Nothing better on the course than Dr. Bible. Sunshine and sense characterize his lecture.

Pittsburg (Pa.) Gazette.
Mr. Bible is one of the most delightful and versatile lecturers on the platform—plenty of humor, but always a strong background of high and noble sentiment and sense.

Buffalo (N. Y.) Express.
Dr. George P. Bible, of Philadelphia, Pa., is a lecturer of the first rank. His personality and apt way of putting things make him a favorite wherever he goes. He is original, logical, humorous and witty, while his sound method of argument carries conviction of truth.

Vincennes (Ind.) Chautauqua.
At 11 o'clock Dr. Bible was met and greeted by an unusually large daytime audience, and his lecture was an important feature of the day. The doctor is a racy speaker.

Lock Haven (Pa.) Democrat.

Teachers and citizens of Clinton County are always ready to greet Dr. George P. Bible, the lecturer and humorist, as a special favorite. Dr. Bible is one of the most magnetic and pleasing lecturers in the field of Institute workers.

Carlisle (Pa.) Sentinel.

Dr. George P. Bible appeared before the County Teachers' Institute two years ago for the first time. Our teachers placed such a high estimate on his work that he was re-engaged for the last Institute. He is one of the most popular lecturers and entertainers that we have had, and a good, strong platform speaker. He will please any audience.

Danville (Ill.) Commercial.

The program of Sunday afternoon was very good. Prof. Bible is a brilliant speaker. Too much could hardly be said in praise of his lecturers. He is one of the best speakers ever heard from this platform. One of the largest crowds that ever collected at Chautauqua grounds gave absorbed attention to the last word of the lecture.

Bedford (Ind.) Daily Mail.

Prof. Bible is a fluent speaker and has the conviction to speak what he thinks. He is a fine impersonator and reader. His power was shown when he recited the poem, "Little Boy Blue."

Evansville (Ind.) Courier.

One of the most delightful lecturers on the platform. Dr. Bible is a born orator.

Clearfield (Pa.) Public Spirit.

G. P. Bible, the renowned instructor and humorist, entertained the audience. He completely controlled their emotions, at one time almost in tears and again convulsed by laughter. This was his third season on the course.

TEAGUE AND RUSH...

Managers Course, Marshall, Ind.

On February 7th, Mr. Bible was regularly on our course, closing the course of five numbers. So delighted were our people that we took him for a return date on the 26th of the same month and had the largest house of the season. He is simply great.

Press and Personal Comment

Tyrone (Pa.) Times.

"Life and Opportunity" was the subject of the lecture by George P. Bible, A. M., in the auditorium of the Pennsylvania Railroad Y. M. C. A. building on the evening of Thanksgiving Day. Tyrone has been exceptionally favored during the past fortnight with lectures of a high class. To have the opportunity of listening to lectures by Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, of New York; Dr. F. W. Gunsaulus, of Chicago, and Dr. George P. Bible, of Philadelphia, gives one a rare advantage to compare notes on a trio of deservedly popular platform speakers.

Lowell (Mass.) Herald.

His lecture on "The Elements of Success," given Tuesday evening to a crowded house, was one of the best features of the week. The social and scholarly qualities of Dr. Bible will insure him a warm welcome whenever he should choose to return to Lowell.

Marion (Ind.) News-Tribune.

Mr. Bible has the saving grace of humor, which many lecturers lack. Reading faces closely, Mr. Bible instantly detects any tendency of the mind to flag under the monotony of the serious and instantly relieves the situation by a saving flash of humor.

Bradford (Pa.) Sunday News.

George P. Bible took the large and intelligent audience by storm, and provoked the wildest and most enthusiastic applause.

Steubenville (O.) Daily Gazette.

We do not hesitate to place the lecture of Dr. Bible among the best. Our people were delighted with him. Good common sense and a cheerful disposition he possesses in marked degree.

Indianapolis (Ind.) Star.

He sprinkled his lecture with humorous anecdote and imitation which was well received by his audience; in fact, he was often forced to desist while they laughed over some unusually happy hit.

BRYON W. KING.

Bible will delight you as well as make you think. He is among the best at the business. Strong lecturer and fine impersonator.

CONGRESSMAN GEORGE HOWELL,
Scranton, Pa.

Prof. Bible is one of the most successful lecturers in the State of Pennsylvania. He is endowed with good common sense and lives with the living.

HON. HENRY HOUCK,
Deputy State Superintendent.

I have known Prof. G. P. Bible for quite a number of years, and have met him often on the Institute platform, and am glad to say that he never fails to please his audience. He has had wide and successful experience on the platform. Where he has been once he is sure to be recalled.

DR. W. L. DAVIDSON,
General Manager, Chautauqua.

A fine lecturer and a most delightful entertainer.

L. V. CRAVENS,
Manager Madison (Ind.) Chautauqua.

Dr. George P. Bible is of the mettle managers are looking for. He combines the merits of a lecturer with the capacities of an entertainer, and is an all-around success. His afternoon lecture before our assembly made such a decided "hit" that the audience simply demanded that he be put on the night program, certainly an unusual compliment to any lecturer. His lectures are a rare combination of wit and philosophy, entertainment and instruction. He has a keen insight into the brighter side of the philosophy of life, while his remarkable power of expression and illustrations makes his lectures entertaining, comprehensive and profound—really a remarkable combination.
